Constituent Colleges of the University.

1. THE CENTRAL HINDU COLLEGE.

The Central Hindu College was founded in July, 1898, with the object of not only imparting a thorough secular education, but also of sending out into the world young men of high character and public spirit. To this end religious and moral instruction based on Hinduism was imparted. It was under the control of a Managing Committee appointed by a Board of Trustees, the Governing Body. The College was affiliated to the University of Allahabad till 1917.

The Board of Trustees transferred the management of the College to the Hindu University Society in July, 1914. When the Society was dissolved and the Benares Hindu University started work in 1917, the College formed the nucleus of the University and has since then been deemed to be a constituent college maintained by the University.

In 1935 the departments of Science were separated and constituted into an independent College of Science.

SCHOOLS OF THE UNIVERSITY

1. THE CENTRAL HINDU SCHOOL FOR BOYS

The Central Hindu School (or the Central Hindu Collegiate School as it was then called) was started on 7th July, 1898, as part of the Central Hindu College founded by a band of selfless leaders and workers, headed by the late Dr. (then Mrs.) Annie Besant and consisting, amongst others, of B. Govind Das, B. Upendra Nath Basu, B. Gyanendra Nath Basu and Dr. (then B.) Bhagwan Das. Starting its work in a rented house at Karanghanta it shifted in March, 1899 to its present premises so generously gifted by the Maharaja of Benares for "the education of Hindu youth in their ancestral faith and true loyalty and patriotism."

The devoted efforts of a band of ardent workers like Dr. Richardson, Pt. Aditya Ram Bhattacharya, Mr. G. S. Arundale, Pt. Iqbal Narain Gurtu made the institution famous all over the country and it began to produce a new generation of youth physically strong, mentally thoughtful and alert, and morally sound and well-behaved. It became well known for its educational atmosphere which combined the ancient ideals of family spirit and service with the modern ones of efficiency and forwardness.

In 1914 the management of the School, along with that of the College, passed on to the Hindu University Society to form the nucleus of the Benares Hindu University.

The School had then on its rolls 571 scholars representing 11 Provinces and 14 Languages. It has since grown considerably in size and has all the buildings and most of the equipment of the old Central Hindu College for its use. It has over a thousand boys representing nearly every Province and many States of India. It has attracted students from even outside India, e. g., Nepal, Mauritius and South Africa.

The chief features of the school are :—

- (1) It imparts religious instruction based on ancient Hindu scriptures.
- (2) It has a very large number of optional subjects including music, manual training, agriculture, botany, commerce etc.
- (3) It is an All-India Institution with students of all ranks and from all parts of the country.
- (4) It has plenty of extra curricular activities such as Swimming, Boating, Games, Labour Corps, Scouting, Educational Trips, Vidyarthi Sahayak Sabha, etc.

The accommodation in the school consists of two big halls, a Library and Museum, and a large number of rooms for the classes and for administrative purposes, besides two hostels situated in the premises and a big play-ground. These cover all the buildings of the old Central Hindu College.
